

Netfarms Update

18/01/2015

I've updated Netfarms to try to attract small business sites as well as still focusing on student free sites. The idea is also to upload some more useful tutorials to the forum area for working with WordPress, so that any client or student who asks can have some resources all in one place that are actually useful. Sites are pitched at £500 (€600) for business, but still free for a 'starter site' for students or graduates.
